MIGRATE TO SUSE ENTERPRISE STORAGE WITH EASE!

If you would like to use block, object and file storage you are able to buy three different storage solutions of one or more storage vendors and try to integrate the products to your ecosystem. The better solution is SUSE Enterprise Storage based on Ceph. Building clusters of x86 hardware and use the power of software defined storage to deliver block, object and file storage to different clients with the same storage backend. Ceph is the de-facto standard backend for OpenStack. By using the storage classes Ceph is a powerful backend for Kubernetes.

With our OpenStack Experts, we ensure your success on SUSE Enterprise Storage Managed – Standalone or in combination with OpenStack and/or Kubernetes.
